

The 2020 Real Media Awards have been reset and we're back!

We're kicking off the dust from iso-life and looking to re-open the RMAs with revisions and updates to categories and dates in the coming days. The main highlight? We've extended our Call For Entries, giving you more time to showcase your best work in your entries.

Our Awards event will be a bit different this year, starting with a likely move to October/November 2019. We will provide more details soon.

It's now more important than ever that we have something to look forward to in the coming months and what better way than to celebrate together as an industry and award your amazing work!

So dust off your social calendar, start preparing your entries now and stay tuned for more information.
